- (i) It is respectfully submitted that the identities of five largest customers and suppliers have not been disclosed in the Prospectus having considered the following reasons:-
- (a) disclosure of such information without an affirmative written consent may result in breach of the Company's confidentiality obligations under relevant agreements and/or may give rise to disputes with such suppliers and customers;
 - (b) the Company has proactively sought consent from its customers and suppliers through different communication channels to disclose the relevant information in the Prospectus and communicated the importance of disclosure to them, emphasizing the need for transparency in the listing process. However, such customers and suppliers either refused to provide consent or had not replied to the Company's request as of the date of this submission; and
 - (c) in cases where identities of customers and suppliers cannot be disclosed in the Prospectus, the detailed background information on such customers and/or suppliers (including registered capital (if applicable), year and location of incorporation, and principal business activities) has been provided in the Prospectus, and it is submitted that such information is sufficient for potential investors to have a full picture of the background of these customers and suppliers.

B. Identity of Major Competitors

The Company noted that under Chapter 3.4 of the Guide for New Listing Applicants, if an applicant considers that the identities of the key market players cannot be disclosed in the listing document, it should (a) advise compelling reasons for such non-disclosure and whether it has proactively requested (with details of the actions taken) for public disclosure of their identities; and (b) disclose detailed background information (i.e., year of establishment, business scale, listing venue (if any)) of the key market players such that a reasonable industry participant would be able to discern their identities by reading the disclosure.

The Company respectfully submits that:

- (a) Please refer to the following table for the identities of the Company's major competitors as disclosed in the Prospectus.-

Note (*): The English names of the PRC entities are for identification purpose only. If there is any inconsistency between the Chinese names and their English translations, the Chinese names shall prevail.-

~~(a)~~(b) The Company did not disclose the identities of its major competitors due to confidentiality and publicity concerns. Although some of the Company's competitors are public companies, their publicly disclosed information is not sufficient for CIC to make analysis. Therefore, CIC collected certain information about these companies for analysis purposes through interviews with reputable industry experts, with confidentiality agreements entered into between CIC and reputable industry experts not to disclose the conversation or any material information contained therein without the prior consent of the other party. Therefore, disclosing the identities of these market players can lead to breach of confidentiality obligations by CIC. The Company further respectfully submits that any attempt to obtain consent from its major competitors for disclosing their identities in the Prospectus can be competitively harmful to the Company due to the competitive relationship between the Company and each of these competitors.

~~(b)~~(c) In addition, the Company respectfully submits that detailed background information of the key market players, including their year of establishment, business scale and listing venue (if any) have been disclosed in the Prospectus such that a reasonable industry participant would be able to discern their identities.-

Save as set out above, the Company is not aware of any other material information in connection with the Company's listing application that should be brought to the attention of the Stock Exchange.
